

Doctor of Management- Information Systems Technology (DM-IST)

Student Learning Outcomes

- Conduct research as a foundation for executive action to promote learning organizations within global technological environments.
- Derive innovative IT models to improve the levels of control (strategic, tactical, and operational) for enhanced organizational performance.
- Create IT strategic plans that are aligned to and integrated with organizational strategies to increase overall growth and success.
- Construct leadership strategies to improve the overall performance of local, national, and global IT organizations.
- Apply IT decision-making processes associated with positive outcomes for leadership and organizational performance.