

Doctor of Educational Leadership (EDD) Student Learning Outcomes

- Utilize theories and principles of leadership to guide organizations through strategic planning and integrating innovative strategies for teaching and learning.
- Utilize the principles and models of organizational theory and leadership theory to manage organizations, promote human relationships and facilitate change for the betterment of the organization.
- Apply the knowledge of legal and regulatory mandates of various governing bodies to address legal and regulatory compliance and issues within educational organizations.
- Evaluate current research and utilize a wide array of statistical tools to analyze and solve complex organizational and instructional issues in diverse educational settings.
- Apply social, historical, and philosophical foundations of education to address contemporary issues affecting education.
- Develop an evolving personal leadership style based on ethical and moral principles.