Master of Science in Counseling/
Marriage, Family and Child Therapy (MSC/MFCT)
Program Student Learning Outcomes

Core Counseling Program Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to integrate legal and ethical standards of the counseling profession in all aspects of professional practice.

2. Students will be able to apply the historical, philosophical and theoretical foundations of the counseling profession in all aspects of professional practice.

3. Students will be able to synthesize aspects of professional functioning to develop a professional counselor identity.

4. Students will be able to apply multicultural competencies in all aspects of professional practice.

5. Students will be able to analyze the needs of diverse groups to advocate for equitable mental health and counseling services, programs, policies and interventions.

6. Students will be able to apply theories of human growth and development in all aspects of professional practice in diverse societies.

7. Students will be able to apply career development theories and models to all aspects of educational and career counseling in a global economy.

8. Students will be able to apply counseling theories, techniques and processes to develop a personal model of counseling practice to help diverse clients.

9. Students will be able to apply theoretical and experiential group approaches in all aspects of professional practice in diverse societies.

10. Students will be able to ethically apply psychological measurement theories and concepts in assessment and evaluation in multicultural societies.

11. Students will be able to analyze counseling research and ethically apply the findings in an evidence-based practice and program evaluation.

MFCT-Specific Program Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to apply historical, philosophical and theoretical foundations of marriage, family and child counseling in all aspects of professional practice.

2. Students will be able to apply culturally responsive marriage, family and child counseling, prevention and intervention in all aspects of professional practice.

© 2015 University of Phoenix, Inc. All rights reserved. | COM-4499