

UNIVERSITY OF PHOENIX: Temporary Closure of Campuses and Service Centers Extended

March 27, 2020

Dear Campus-based Students,

Your health and safety are of critical importance to us, as is our employees' and community partners' health and safety. With more and more state and municipal leaders invoking shelter-in-place rules due to the spread of the COVID-19 virus, we have made the decision to extend the temporary closure of ALL our campuses and service centers until May 3, 2020.

However, the University is fully open and continues to serve our entire student body via the Blackboard Collaborate virtual learning environment. Campus-based students will continue studies through Blackboard Collaborate, which has been underway for two weeks now. Online students will continue as normal. Additionally, you will continue to receive services through our electronic library, be able to connect with student support services for academic and finance advising, and access technical support. We remain committed to supporting you every step of the way on your educational journey with University of Phoenix.

Please note: We are here to support you during this difficult time and our Academic Counselors, faculty and others are here to answer any questions or concerns you may have, so that you can continue working toward your academic goals while completing coursework.

The University will continue to evaluate official guidance as to the status of the pandemic in the communities where we service our students. We will work to keep you apprised of current information and any changes to this the timing. We thank you for your understanding and support through this process. For the latest information concerning the University's response to the COVID-19 pandemic, please visit our microsite at www.phoenix.edu/COVID19.

Stay well!
