

Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision (Non-Licensure)

Approx. program length:

18 months

Credits:

38

Cost per credit:

$540

Tuition Guarantee

Format:

Online

Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision (Non-Licensure)

As an experienced educator, you're ready to start leading and helping teachers thrive. Advance your education and fine-tune your K-12 school principal skills with a Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision.

You'll study from curriculum aligned with national standards set by the Professional Standards for Educational Leadership (PSEL) and complete an administrative internship to gain real-world, field-based experience in school administration.

You'll learn how to:

- Lead and develop faculty, and understand facility, legal, communication and other administration functions
- Work with families, business and community groups and the media to support a school's vision and programs
- Develop school improvement plans
- Supervise curriculum and understand how it relates to national and state standards

Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision (Non-Licensure)

Projected job growth:

5%

According to Bureau of Labor Statistics

What can you do with a Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision?

A MAEd/ADM can prepare you to be a:

- School administrator

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, job growth for elementary, middle and high school principals is projected to be as fast as average between 2021 and 2031.

BLS projections are not specific to University of Phoenix students or graduates.

Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision (Non-Licensure)

Total credits required:

38

Requirements and prerequisites

You'll need 120 credits to complete this Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision. Your course schedule may vary based on transferable credits or credits earned through the University's Prior Learning Assessment.

15 Core courses

Here's where you'll pick up the bulk of your program-specific knowledge. By the time you finish these courses, you should have the confidence and skills needed in an education environment.

- COM/516: Professional Communications
- ADMIN/570: Equity, Diversity, and Access in Education
- ADMIN/555: School Policy and Law for Principals
- AET/562: Social Media for Professional Learning
- ADMIN/528: Administration of Special Programs
- ADMIN/560: Human Resources Leadership and Management
- ADMIN/500: Orientation to Administration and Supervision

1 Elective Course

Elective courses allow you to learn about topics you're interested in. That means you'll have a degree that's unique to you and your education goals.

Schedule

Your academic counselor will help you schedule your classes for the Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision.

COE Central

College of Education students will find many helpful resources on COE Central. Program handbooks provide a wealth of information on topics such as professional expectations, clinical experiences, clinical practice, internships, edTPA and much more. Milestone roadmaps, technology and multimedia resources, and various toolkits are also available.

What you'll learn

When you earn your online Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision, you'll be equipped with a concrete set of skills you can apply on the job.

Topics covered in this degree include:

- Design and implement school leadership practices to produce a positive impact on P-12 student learning
- Evaluate effective professional practice
- Apply professional ethics to their leadership practices
- Evaluate community factors to address the needs of diverse populations
- Evaluate research and synthesize information from multiple sources

Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision (Non-Licensure)

Along with the knowledge and skills related to the University Learning Goals, students who graduate from the College of Education should gain program-specific knowledge, skills and abilities. Each college or school creates a set of Program Student Learning Outcomes (PSLOs) to describe the knowledge, skills or attitudes students will possess upon completion of the program of study. By the time you complete your Bachelor of Science in Education/Elementary Teacher Education Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision degree, you should be able to perform these learning outcomes.

Program Purpose Statement

The Master of Arts in Education/Administration and Supervision (nonlicensure track) is a graduate degree program intended for California-licensed principals to further expand their education in leadership and theory in education administration. Candidates must have a bachelor's degree and a California principal license. This program does not prepare students for any type of professional certification or licensure as a teacher, principal or administrator.